Shows excellent depth and lushness, exhibiting cherry, blackberry, black currant, violet, stone and spice aromas and flavors. Vibrant and underlined with a base of dense tannins, this red is well-proportioned and remains long and complex.

Racy aromas of sweet red berries, cranberries, peonies and a touch of minerals. Structured and fine-grained, with a slightly full palate thanks to the tannins. It shows juicy fruit and a long, taut, minerally finish. From organically grown grapes. Drink or hold.

Perfumed and elegant, just like you expect a Volnay to be, this is quite generous but also silky and delicate. Builds very nicely on the polished, medium-bodied palate. Beneath all of this is a very solid base of fine tannins.

James Suckling

Ripe, generous and velvety with lively acidity, this is an impressive Volnay that retains the light-footedness of this appellation, in spite of the extreme vintage. Stacks of fine tannins and this side of the wine builds at the highly structured finish. Excellent freshness. From organically grown grapes. Drinkable now, but best from 2024.
