Brilliant pink. Red berries and tangerine on the nose, along with a subtle floral nuance. Smooth and fleshy in style, offering seamless texture and gently sweet raspberry and cherry flavors. Finishes with good length and breadth, a repeating red fruit note and a touch of spiciness.

This would be competitive at $18, but at $13 it seems like a steal. Not quite as pale in color as many rosé wines from the region, it also offers just a touch of fruity sweetness but remains classy and restrained by global standards for the category. This finishes clean and dry despite showing some ripe fruit notes in the mid-palate, which is a winning combination.

Pale pink color, dry, smooth and racy, crisp with tangy acidity and a long finish.
