

Decanter

MICHELE CHIARLO

Cannubi Barolo DOCG 2022

93 Points

Chiarlo owns a precious one-hectare slice of the Cannubi hill: just a few terraced rows on its steep, sun-drenched slope. The 2022 exhibits well defined aromas of raspberry, brushwood, pepper and cinnamon. It is youthfully austere but with an underlying sense of symmetry, where crunchy cranberry and redcurrant suffuse the core. The tannins are sinewy in muscle, exercising controlled vigour, while a fine, powdered texture makes for enticing mid-palate drama. I love the slightly salty edge. Give this another year to flesh out.

April 14, 2026

© 2026 Kobrand Corporation, Purchase, NY

Decanter

MICHELE CHIARLO

Cannubi Barolo DOCG 2022

93 Points

Chiarlo owns a precious one-hectare slice of the Cannubi hill: just a few terraced rows on its steep, sun-drenched slope. The 2022 exhibits well defined aromas of raspberry, brushwood, pepper and cinnamon. It is youthfully austere but with an underlying sense of symmetry, where crunchy cranberry and redcurrant suffuse the core. The tannins are sinewy in muscle, exercising controlled vigour, while a fine, powdered texture makes for enticing mid-palate drama. I love the slightly salty edge. Give this another year to flesh out.

April 14, 2026

© 2026 Kobrand Corporation, Purchase, NY

Decanter

MICHELE CHIARLO

Cannubi Barolo DOCG 2022

93 Points

Chiarlo owns a precious one-hectare slice of the Cannubi hill: just a few terraced rows on its steep, sun-drenched slope. The 2022 exhibits well defined aromas of raspberry, brushwood, pepper and cinnamon. It is youthfully austere but with an underlying sense of symmetry, where crunchy cranberry and redcurrant suffuse the core. The tannins are sinewy in muscle, exercising controlled vigour, while a fine, powdered texture makes for enticing mid-palate drama. I love the slightly salty edge. Give this another year to flesh out.

April 14, 2026

© 2026 Kobrand Corporation, Purchase, NY

Decanter

MICHELE CHIARLO

Cannubi Barolo DOCG 2022

93 Points

Chiarlo owns a precious one-hectare slice of the Cannubi hill: just a few terraced rows on its steep, sun-drenched slope. The 2022 exhibits well defined aromas of raspberry, brushwood, pepper and cinnamon. It is youthfully austere but with an underlying sense of symmetry, where crunchy cranberry and redcurrant suffuse the core. The tannins are sinewy in muscle, exercising controlled vigour, while a fine, powdered texture makes for enticing mid-palate drama. I love the slightly salty edge. Give this another year to flesh out.

April 14, 2026

© 2026 Kobrand Corporation, Purchase, NY

Decanter

MICHELE CHIARLO

Cannubi Barolo DOCG 2022

93 Points

Chiarlo owns a precious one-hectare slice of the Cannubi hill: just a few terraced rows on its steep, sun-drenched slope. The 2022 exhibits well defined aromas of raspberry, brushwood, pepper and cinnamon. It is youthfully austere but with an underlying sense of symmetry, where crunchy cranberry and redcurrant suffuse the core. The tannins are sinewy in muscle, exercising controlled vigour, while a fine, powdered texture makes for enticing mid-palate drama. I love the slightly salty edge. Give this another year to flesh out.

April 14, 2026

© 2026 Kobrand Corporation, Purchase, NY

Decanter

MICHELE CHIARLO

Cannubi Barolo DOCG 2022

93 Points

Chiarlo owns a precious one-hectare slice of the Cannubi hill: just a few terraced rows on its steep, sun-drenched slope. The 2022 exhibits well defined aromas of raspberry, brushwood, pepper and cinnamon. It is youthfully austere but with an underlying sense of symmetry, where crunchy cranberry and redcurrant suffuse the core. The tannins are sinewy in muscle, exercising controlled vigour, while a fine, powdered texture makes for enticing mid-palate drama. I love the slightly salty edge. Give this another year to flesh out.

April 14, 2026

© 2026 Kobrand Corporation, Purchase, NY

