

MONTES
Folly 2022

93 Points

I once again found the 2022 Folly to stand out during my tasting at Montes, opening with a classic, varietal bouquet of black olives, dark fruits, violet and graphite. The mouthfeel is among the more inky and concentrated of the roster, although its richness feels more naturally attained rather than bolstered in the cellar. It concludes with an impactful, assertive finish that lingers with an additional round of ripe, luscious fruit flavors laced with subtle savory nuances and framed by fine-grained, powdery tannins.

May 13, 2026
© 2026 Kobrand Corporation, Purchase, NY

MONTES
Folly 2022

93 Points

I once again found the 2022 Folly to stand out during my tasting at Montes, opening with a classic, varietal bouquet of black olives, dark fruits, violet and graphite. The mouthfeel is among the more inky and concentrated of the roster, although its richness feels more naturally attained rather than bolstered in the cellar. It concludes with an impactful, assertive finish that lingers with an additional round of ripe, luscious fruit flavors laced with subtle savory nuances and framed by fine-grained, powdery tannins.

May 13, 2026
© 2026 Kobrand Corporation, Purchase, NY

MONTES
Folly 2022

93 Points

I once again found the 2022 Folly to stand out during my tasting at Montes, opening with a classic, varietal bouquet of black olives, dark fruits, violet and graphite. The mouthfeel is among the more inky and concentrated of the roster, although its richness feels more naturally attained rather than bolstered in the cellar. It concludes with an impactful, assertive finish that lingers with an additional round of ripe, luscious fruit flavors laced with subtle savory nuances and framed by fine-grained, powdery tannins.

May 13, 2026
© 2026 Kobrand Corporation, Purchase, NY

MONTES
Folly 2022

93 Points

I once again found the 2022 Folly to stand out during my tasting at Montes, opening with a classic, varietal bouquet of black olives, dark fruits, violet and graphite. The mouthfeel is among the more inky and concentrated of the roster, although its richness feels more naturally attained rather than bolstered in the cellar. It concludes with an impactful, assertive finish that lingers with an additional round of ripe, luscious fruit flavors laced with subtle savory nuances and framed by fine-grained, powdery tannins.

May 13, 2026
© 2026 Kobrand Corporation, Purchase, NY

MONTES
Folly 2022

93 Points

I once again found the 2022 Folly to stand out during my tasting at Montes, opening with a classic, varietal bouquet of black olives, dark fruits, violet and graphite. The mouthfeel is among the more inky and concentrated of the roster, although its richness feels more naturally attained rather than bolstered in the cellar. It concludes with an impactful, assertive finish that lingers with an additional round of ripe, luscious fruit flavors laced with subtle savory nuances and framed by fine-grained, powdery tannins.

May 13, 2026
© 2026 Kobrand Corporation, Purchase, NY

MONTES
Folly 2022

93 Points

I once again found the 2022 Folly to stand out during my tasting at Montes, opening with a classic, varietal bouquet of black olives, dark fruits, violet and graphite. The mouthfeel is among the more inky and concentrated of the roster, although its richness feels more naturally attained rather than bolstered in the cellar. It concludes with an impactful, assertive finish that lingers with an additional round of ripe, luscious fruit flavors laced with subtle savory nuances and framed by fine-grained, powdery tannins.

May 13, 2026
© 2026 Kobrand Corporation, Purchase, NY

